

TOPPLING THE STATE

Bangladesh's 2024 Crisis of Power

In 2024, Bangladesh is on the brink of political collapse. As rampant corruption, electoral controversies, and authoritarianism push the country to the edge, the streets of Dhaka erupt in protests and violent clashes between citizens and security forces.

"Toppling the State: Bangladesh's 2024 Crisis of Power" takes readers into the heart of a nation at boiling point, torn apart by power struggles in a bid for democracy.

The book delves into the core of Bangladesh's political turmoil, exposing the fragility of its democratic fabric and the deep-seated challenges facing its society.

Imran Ahmed Chowdhury provides a gripping account of the chaos engulfing the country, detailing the explosive mix of public outrage, state repression, and a precarious balance of power. Through interviews, on-the-ground reporting, and in-depth analysis, he explores the roles of major political players, the rise of grassroots movements, and the grim reality of living under an authoritarian regime.

Will Bangladesh emerge from the turmoil as a stronger democracy, or fall deeper into the abysses of authoritarian rule?

"Toppling the State" is a crucial read for anyone seeking to understand the forces threatening Bangladesh's future.
